

A video, announcing the "HyperMotion Technology" will be available later today on Fifa.com.1. Field of the Invention This invention relates to vibrating devices of the type used for the drilling of oil and gas wells and more particularly to a mud motor-type drilling motor which functions to both drill a hole and convey fluids to and from the bottom of the hole. 2. Description of Related Art There are many types of mud motors used in the drilling of oil and gas wells. These mud motors generally use drilling muds which are circulated through the motor and used for a variety of functions. For example, the drilling mud cleans off the cutters of the bit at the bottom of the drill string to keep them sharp and also cleans the internal workings of the motor. Drilling mud also serves as a coolant for the cutting elements. Drilling mud is also used to lubricate the bearings in the motor and to carry rock chips out of the well. When drilling mud is circulated from the surface of the well, the pump used to circulate the drilling mud is located at the surface of the well. The oil and gas industry is continuously in need of improved and more efficient drilling methods. Drilling mud motors provide a more efficient method of drilling oil and gas wells than the previously used mud pumps at the surface of the well. The existing drilling mud motors do a satisfactory job at drilling the well. However, there is a need for an improved drilling mud motor which can drill faster, drill better and at the same time, be more efficient than the known drilling mud motors. It would be an advancement in the art to provide a drilling motor which could be located at the end of the drill string thus reducing the time required to start a well and also permitting the drilling of wells in areas where drilling mud pumps are not available. The prior art has searched for many years to find a drilling mud motor which could drill a well using a single drill string which utilizes a drilling mud motor and which could be located at the end of the drill string. The prior art, however, has failed to find such a device which could economically drill oil and gas wells. Most of the attempts at drilling a well with a drill string which is located at the end of the drill string have not been successful because the forces generated in the bottom of the drill string caused the drill string to bend at the top of the motor and destroy the motor. While the prior art is replete with devices which would be used to operate as a mud motor

Geoffrey Kondogbia's FA Cup replay was interrupted by Mourinho early in the second half. Is it a chance for him to get over the Manchester United manager? I don't know who my favourite Man United manager in the last 20 years is, but in the last 20 years I've said a couple. Obviously, Sir Alex Ferguson - what he did - is incredible. I don't know. There are many. Obviously, there are a few teams I like to watch, Man United included. I don't know, José Mourinho is a great manager. I don't know who is the one I like the most. You were a reference for the new kit for Man United and other world clubs. Will you be wearing it? I will wear it. The most important thing is that is authentic for me. It's the first time for me, it's so special. I saw in the video a very good colour. I like it. I don't know, the big guns and the world guns and the big players, people that are big stars, they are being used for the first time in a few years with their new kit. It's very nice. It's almost the first time. BBC 4 Controller promises to 'eliminate' 'pleb TV' The BBC is under pressure to reduce the number of channels on its satellite and terrestrial television
