Inside of “Intimate Relationship” is based on the short story that was released In Japan, “yuri manga” (usually translated as “girls’ love manga”) is a genre of manga that is usually published in a gay-themed format. Its popularity around the world has led to increased public interest in Japan's LGBTQ culture. Since the 1990s, the yuri manga market has been expanding, with increasing number of titles available for sale and reading. "Intimate Relationship" is a 2015 Japanese anime romantic-comedy film. The English version was released in July 2016. Cast Lucy Liu as Yukie Adachi Tori Matsuzaka as Yuuuki Yukiyo Fujii as Mai Ichijō Production The idea of the movie came from a short story published in a magazine titled "Let's Love." The author was Kikkawa Sushi who described it as "a story that I would want to read." He was challenged by his editor to write a story like a work of cinema. Kikkawa managed to write it "as it would be if I would make a movie". He also wanted to make it a romantic story that reflects the current LGBTQ population in Japan. The movie is described as a "yuri love story" in the official website. It was written by Reiko Tsuda who described it as "an intimate love story". The director of the movie is Ryuichi Hiroki who described it as "first-time scenario". It has an original storyline which allows the director to make a lot of unexpected moves. In Kikkawa's original script, Yuuuki was supposed to be a girl and Mai was a boy. This changed in the movie by being Mai a boy and Yuuuki a girl. Production of the film started in March 2016 and it was finished in a month. By that time, Ryuichi Hiroki decided to adapt a short story published in a magazine and create a movie. Filming took place in Tokyo, Hyōgo and

"A finely crafted arcade puzzler that you will keep coming back for"Original soundtrack by Patrick Gannigan, available on [link] Check out the updated version of the game, coming to Steam next week! The best way to share feedback is by posting it in the steam forums. I also found a ton of good feedback by getting in touch with people who have played the game through word of mouth. 1 of 2 updates My progress is now backed up to the github version of this project. I'm working on adding a trailer, and various other stuff to make this a fuller experience. While I'm working on getting the system set up for this, any bugs found can be reported on the github repository, and as I fix them, I'll make a post here. Thanks! Morphogenesis An updated version of this game is now available on a new website! The idea for this game came about when I wanted to set myself a couple of challenges. I found it difficult to feel comfortable with an original sci-fi game, so I decided to take an existing concept and make it my own. The game takes place in an Alternate Universe in which logic, space, and matter are flexible and malleable. It's a science fiction noir story, with a dark and twisted story about a man who is deeply in love with a girl that has disappeared. The game will take place in a system full of strange phenomenon, all of which the player can affect by interacting with the environment, and how it behaves. In any case, I'm planning on releasing the game as free to play as I get things ready. Here's a trailer to give you a glimpse of what it's about. Thanks!

Association of superior laryngeal nerve paralysis with neck hematoma after thyroid surgery: Two case reports. Laryngeal paralysis occurs in up to 3% of patients undergoing thyroidectomy. Superior laryngeal nerve (SLN) paralysis following thyroidectomy was first reported by Senhora et al. in 1990 and was believed to result from a direct injury to the nerve by traction. Nerve injury may result in a temporary vocal cord paralysis, sometimes causing a sore throat. The second case describes the clinical characteristics of 2 patients who experienced neck hematoma with SLN paralysis after thyroidectomy. The hematoma was surgically treated. The pathological findings of the thyroid resected were papillary carcinoma of the thyroid

My Hacking story

In the second grade, my father bought me a gameboy "GoBoy", but when I was in the fourth grade, I got a new gameboy (the GameCube). It was more fun, but my father did not allow me to upgrade my GameBoy. But once I became 16, I bought a gameboy xl. You know, the 2600 was pretty popular. Then I got a gameboy advance, and I got my first GBA cartridge, "Civilization 4". Man, I have been enjoying Civ 4, and I was getting lots of hours playing game, but I was never disappointed that gameboy when a new gameboy game came out. One of the games I had been playing alot was Grand Theft Auto Game. One day, I was sitting at the bus stop, using my gameboy to game, when an old man said to me: "son, you need to stop playing games, and start working. Your old man wont buy you a new gameboy". So, I got pissed off and i smashed the screen
