Under the "Tools" menu option in the browser, please download the latest version of Google Chrome. Please check the "Help" menu to continue using our services. Thank you for your continued patience with our team. Best regards, The Google Team As you are probably aware, weather patterns have had a significant impact on horticultural crops this season, with the resultant difficulties of harvest for some growers. There are many negative impacts of weather across the globe such as a possible power black-out in California and the recent hurricanes and tornadoes in the United States. Growers using high technology (and indoor technology) have been able to avoid the worst of the weather and for those using some of our Hydroponic, Ebb and Flow and Aeroponic equipment, why not consider joining us in the early stages of a new venture into the world of hydroponics with the help of City of Angels Hydroponics. City of Angels Hydroponics is owned by one of the regions' leading horticulturalists, Jonny Barnes who has over 15 years experience in growing and producing high quality fruit and vegetables. As well as being a grower, Jonny has a deep understanding of the need to have a rapid, reliable and sustainable supply of good, healthy produce. City of Angels Hydroponics is the result of that vision. Jonny's methods of growing are simple, direct and allow the grower to harvest quality crops every time. He has a full range of high tech equipment, but he employs the fewest people and keeps costs down to make sure the grower is not paying for equipment you don't need.
