Category: Video games Category: Trading card games Category: EntertainmentQ: Why does grep return null for this pattern? I am trying to learn grep and I came across this question, where pattern would print one of the lines, but not the last one, but when the pattern matches, the original code does not return a null value, why? For instance, the code returns a null value after the first grep, but if I add -m 1 it still returns the second line #!/bin/bash while read do if grep -m 1 'host_url' /usr/local/sbin/webserver.txt; then printf "found it: %s " "${1}" else printf "not found " fi done This invention relates to a novel method for controlling the pH of a slurry of particulate, dewaterable dry strength builder, and more particularly, to a method for controlling the pH of a particulate, dewaterable dry strength to aqueous solutions used in the paper industry. Calcium chloride used as a dry strength agent can be classified into two
